

Summary of relevant skills and experiences

Serena Vantin (1989) is Research Grant Holder at the Department of Law of the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia. Since its foundation, she is Scientific Secretary at CRID - Centro di Ricerca Interdipartimentale su Discriminazioni e vulnerabilità (University of Modena and Reggio Emilia), where she coordinated different projects on gender discrimination and education.

She held a PhD at the University of Pisa (with honors), and a Master Degree in Law at the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia (with honors).

She was Visiting Scholar at the “Queen Mary” University in London (2016-2017), Cambridge University (2017) and University “Carlos III” in Madrid (2018). She wrote three books and many essays and articles on Gender and Legal Theory, Discrimination Law, History of Feminism and Contemporary Feminism. She held Seminars and Lessons on these topics.

Member of the editorial staff of “Rivista Italiana di Filosofia del diritto”, she is also a fellow of the “Table on Women and Research” and of the Special Group of Interest (SIG) of the Horizon 2020 EQUAL-IST Project.